NEED OF BIG BOSS SEEN IN VOTE MOVE

Citizens' Committee Tussles with
Question of Holding Election.

Washington needs a political boss. That fact was apparent yesterday, when a committee of the Federation of Citizens' Associations met and struggled with the details of a plan for having the people of the District choose their next District Commissioner.

Clyde Garret was chairman of the committee and the meeting was in his office. Senator Boies Penrose, the big boss of Pennsylvania, or Charlie Murphy, chief of the New York Tammany machine, could have easily disposed of many of the questions that confronted the committee. How to prevent repeating, how to tell whether a woman is old enough to vote, and how to satisfy everybody that the official count is correct and defeat applications for a recount, were some of the big questions that the committee considered.

The committee deliberated for nearly two hours with the details of the plan for the unofficial election of a new District Commissioner and then adjourned with an agreement that they would think it over until 7 o'clock Saturday night, when they will hold another meeting and agree upon their report to the Federation, which meets at 8 p. m.

Holding an election, even an unofficial one, is not a simple task, as the committee has already discovered. There is doubt as to whether the school buildings will be available for this unofficial ballot. There are many opinions as to how the candidates to be voted for will get their names upon the ballot.

All of these questions will be settled finally by the Federation of Citizens' Associations Saturday night. Former politicians, embryo and aspiring statesmen, are invited to be present and assist in working out the details for this first election of the citizens of the District.

THREE CAMP SITES CHOSEN BY BAKER

Troops to Be Located at Charlotte, Hattiesburg and Alexandria.

Secretary of War Baker ended the mad scramble of Southern Democrats and delegations from cities to grab the three remaining National Guard camp sites in the Southeastern Department, by awarding the prizes to Charlotte, N. C., Hattiesburg, Miss., and Alexandria, La. These designations complete the list of sites for guard camps, each of which will take care of between 20,000 and 30,000 men. The War Department originally decided to locate the camps at Fayetteville, but found that Fayetteville was without water sufficient to meet the needs of the army officers who went to prepare the site recommended that it be changed to Charlotte.

In the matter of awarding the last three sites Secretary of War Baker has been subjected to a degree of pressure from Southern Senators and Representatives, more severe than any heretofore experienced. The final recommendations of Gen. Leonard Wood were received Monday. Since that time the Secretary of War has been kept busy answering telephone calls from Southern Senators. The war, given notice and last Monday night a score or more sat around in the big hearing room at the War Department and took turns in extolling the claims of their States.

URGES IMPROVEMENT IN FOOD MARKETING

Practical Suggestions in Magazine Article.

Increased production of food, the great need of the entire allied and the United States, waits on improvement in the nation's distributive system, according to J. O'Brien Armour, writing on the subject in the Saturday Evening Post.

According to Mr. Armour, who is recognized as one of the leading authorities on food marketing, the farmers of this country will demonstrate their ability to grow food in abundance as soon as they are assured against glutted markets and ruinous prices at harvest time. He would solve the problem by increasing and improving the facilities for cold storage of such foods as can be kept in cold storages and for developing processes of drying or otherwise preserving other foods thereby assuring an adequate supply of food at all seasons of the year.

On the methods to be pursued by the farmers in their effort to increase production, Mr. Armour elaborates at length and presents the formula, "diversify, fertilize, motorize, specialize." He advocates the fixing of a minimum price to protect the farmer, and of a maximum price to protect the consumer.

Field Hospital Unit Calls for Recruits

The First District of Columbia field hospital unit's war strength has been increased to eighty men, and has been assigned to secure twenty additional men. The building at 402 Ninth street northwest has been secured for recruiting purposes. Private Kline and Colonel, with a detachment of seven privates, are in charge of the station. Harold C. Allen has enlisted.

Stork Beats the Reaper, Says Local Health Report

The stork is beating the reaper, according to the report of the District Health Department for the week ended July 7. During that week 331 births and but 14 deaths were recorded. Most of the contagious or infectious diseases show a substantial decrease. Only whooping cough is on the increase. The new cases, bringing the total for the District to 243.

Among the odd articles of food condemned by health officials during the period were six pies, fourteen clams, a can of peaches and over fourteen gallons of crab meat.

Services for Prof. Laug.

Commerce Commission Denies Rate Increase

Increase in certain classes of iron and steel freight rates, asked by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to go into effect July 15 was denied yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Arguments will be heard by counsel for the carrier before November 13, when an order in the case will be entered by the commission. The suspended tariffs provided for the cancellation of transit rules at Baltimore and Washington on iron and steel originating at various points in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia when the outbound product is reshipped to points located on the Southern Railroad and its connections.

Lane Plans to Reclaim California Arid Lands

By a contract executed recently between Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, and Mark Rose, representing the Imperial Laguna Canal Company, of Southern California, a tract of arid land comprising from 120,000 to 200,000 acres adjoining the Imperial Valley, is to be irrigated by means of an all-American canal thirty miles in length. The water is to be taken from the Laguna Dam of the Yuma Reclamation Project on the Colorado River at Yuma, Ariz. The contract has been so drawn as to protect the interests of the public and to insure the feasibility of the project before connection with the government dam is permitted, and before any money derived from the sale of stock is made available to Mr. Rose and his corporation.

Large Surety Bond Executed.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, through the National Surety Company, of New York, has executed the largest surety bond probably ever written by any single individual or corporation in the world's history.

Charges Husband with Cruelty.

Minnie A. Tull filed suit for limited divorce yesterday in the District Supreme Court against her husband, Jesse W. Tull, a clerk in the General Land Office. She charges habitual cruelty and non-support.

Women Carry U. S. Mail.

Lorain, Ohio, July 12.—Scarcely of men has brought women mail carriers to Lorain. Special permission from Washington was received to allow women to take the examination. Lorain had the first section hands in the country.

To Make an Inventory Of Automotive Industry

A thorough and comprehensive industrial inventory of the automotive industries, including automobile, airplane and watercraft factories, to make available for the government all possible information regarding their manufacturing facilities and the possibilities of expansion for government work, is being made by the automotive committee of the council of national defense. The work is expected to be completed in the next two weeks.

Ninety-Year-Old Kansan Helps National Movement

Elwood Haworth, of Galena, Kansas, is 90 years old and cannot follow the flag to France, but he is doing "the best he can" for his country. The United States Food Administration yesterday received from him a money order for $2.25 and a letter telling how he is talking food conservation among his neighbors.

Cleveland Is Melting Pot.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 12.—Cleveland often has been referred to as the "melting pot" because of many foreigners here. A tabulation of school census reports shows that forty-five languages are spoken in this city.

To Conserve Waste Paper.

Green Bay, Wis., July 12.—John Welsh, manager of a local paper company, has invented a process whereby he says waste paper can be reclaimed and made into newspaper paper. The paper is of a bluish-gray color and is said to have a greater strength than ordinary newspaper.

Patrons Shave Selves To Economize on Time

Cleveland, Ohio, July 12.—The shave self idea has spread to the barber shop and members of the chamber of commerce who have for years tolerated solicitous barbers, who would have you spend a dollar for shave extras, are happy. To Stovering, who is proprietor of the C of C barber shop, has installed a "shave-self" line. The patron doesn't have to wait for "Next." He just walks in, selects his own style of razor, face lotion, and does the work himself. There isn't much difference in the price, but the patron gets out quicker.

Inventor Says Machine Will Cut Power Cost

High cost of gasoline will no longer worry the motorist. Black smoke nuisance contingent with the running of plants by steam will not continue the plague of communities. The collector from the electric lighting companies will be a stranger at your front door. Wash day will not fill the housewife with woe. At least all this will be accomplished if the invention of Joseph Raes, 1106 Sixteenth street, does what its sponsor claims it will.

JUDGE UPHOLDS FREE SPEECH

Baltimore, July 12.—The right of free speech was upheld today by Federal Judge Rose. In discharging a man brought before him for opposing the draft law he stated a person could express disapproval of any law passed by the government.
